ADMISSION OF OKLAHOMA

The Forty-Sixth State Formally Entered the American Union Saturday

Washington Nov. 17.—A new star was added to the American flag yesterday by the admission formally into the Union of the state of Oklahoma.

President Roosevelt, at 10:16 o'clock, signed the proclamation admitting the territories of Oklahoma and Indian Territory jointly as of the American states. Little formally attended the ceremony which meant so much to the people of the two territories. In appending his signature to the proclamation the president used a pen formed from a quill plucked from the wing of an American eagle. The pen will be deposited with the Oklahoma historical society.

The act was done in the cabinet room, to which had been admitted Senators Carter and Dixon of Montana, and Warner of Missouri, besides a number of the residents of Oklahoma, most of whom are connected with the government departments in Washington, and newspaper representatives.

With Little Ceremony

It was exactly at 10:06 o'clock when Secretary Loeb threw open the double doors leading from the president's private office. He had the proclamation in his hand, which he laid on the large square blotter at the president's position at the head of the cabinet table. The president entered and took his seat at once, was handed the large eagle pen by the secretary, and, he himself, lifted the lid from the inkstand, dipped the pen and wrote his name in large letters, the pen making an audible scratch with each movement. When he had finished his signature, the president picked up a small blotter with which he blotted the name, and then looking up, exclaimed: "Oklahoma is a state."

At this instant Albert Hammer of Enid, Oklahoma, a clerk in the land office, stepped forward and asked: "Mr. President, may I have that blotter?"

The president picked up the small blotter and handed it to Mr. Hammer with the remark: "There were more requests for me to use particular pens than there are letters in my name."

The Proclamation

After the signing of the proclamation which made Oklahoma a state, it was transmitted to the State Department, where the signature of the president was duly attested and the document then filed in the archives of that department.

The proclamation is as follows: "Now, therefore, I, Theodore Roosevelt, president of the United States of America, in accordance with the act of Congress aforesaid and by the authority thereof, announce the result of said election to be as certified and do hereby declare and proclaim that the terms and conditions prescribed by Congress to entitle the state of Oklahoma to admission to the Union on an equal footing with the original thirteen states is now accomplished. In testimony whereof I have hereunto set my hand and caused the seal of the United States to be affixed, this, the sixteenth day of November, 1907. "Theodore Roosevelt."

EXTRA SESSION AGAIN

The Subject of Reports that Emanate from the State Capital—May be Called December 2nd

Tallahassee, Fla., Nov. 18.—It is currently reported in Tallahassee that Gov. Broward will call an extra session of the legislature to convene Dec. 2. This is a rumor that could not be confirmed at the executive office today. The governor was not in the city and his private secretary said he knew nothing of the governor's intentions.

Whatever the basis given for an extra session it is now too late to make provision for additional revenue by an increase of the tax rate. If there has been any fear on this score it may be set at ease. The tax books, or the greater number of them, have been sent into the controller, and are now being compiled in that office. To receive the report of the investigating commission and possibly to create a prison commission to consider the state life insurance question and better revenue measures are assigned as the foremost reasons for an extra session.

There is a certain feeling that the session will be called, and the certainty bears with it the conviction that the governor has talked to somebody, thought nobody appears to know who.

The announcement of the cession of the west coast harbor, which has been used for years by ships of the United States navy for the purpose of target practice, was qualifiedly substantiated by the State Department when the secretary of foreign relations said that the northern republic would be allowed to maintain two coaling ships at Magdalena Bay for a period of three years, provided a like concession was made by the government of the United States to Mexico.
